The screenshot displays the Logos Bible Software interface. The main window shows the Bible passage John 1:1-18 in the English Standard Version. The text reads: "1^aIn the beginning was ^bthe Word, and ^cthe Word was with God, and ^dthe Word was God. 2^e He was in the beginning with God. 3^fAll things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. 4^gIn him was life,¹ and ^hthe life was the light of men. 5ⁱThe light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it. 6^j There was a man ^ksent from God, whose name was J^lohn. 7^mHe came as a ⁿwitness, to bear witness about the light, ^othat all might believe through him. 8^pHe was not the light, but came to bear witness about the light. 9^qThe true light, which gives light to everyone, was coming into the world. 10^rHe was

Below the main text, there is a commentary window titled "The Pillar New Testament Commentary: The Gospel according to John" for John 1:1. The commentary text states: "1:1. In the beginning immediately reminds any reader of the Old Testament of the opening verse of the Bible: 'In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.' Genesis begins with creation; John refers to creation (vv. 3-4), but soon turns to what Paul calls 'new creation' (Jn. 3; cf. 2 Cor. 5:17). Both in Genesis and here, the context shows that the beginning is absolute: the beginning of all things, the beginning of the universe. The Greek word behind 'beginning', archē, often bears the meaning 'origin' (cf. BAGD), and there may be echoes of that here, for the Word who already was 'in the beginning' is soon shown to be God's agent of creation (vv. 3-4), what we might call the 'originator' of all things. Granted that the Word enjoyed this role, it was inevitable that at the origin of everything he already was. Since Mark begins his

On the right side, there is an "Information" panel with a "Text Comparison" tool. It compares the text of John 1:1-15 across different versions: ESV, NASB95, NIV, NRSV, and KJV 1900. The comparison shows the text: "ESV | Jn 1:1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. 2 He was in the beginning with God. 3 All things were made through him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. 4 In him was life, and the life was the light of men. 5 The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it. 6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. 7 He came as a

The interface also includes a sidebar with "COMMENTARIES" and "CROSS REFERENCES" for John 1:1-18. The "CROSS REFERENCES" section lists "The Treasury of Scripture Knowledge" with a link to "1 Jn 1:1 | That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have touched with our hands, concerning the word of life— and proclaim to you the eternal life, which was with the Father and was made manifest to us— Jn 3:19 | And this is the judgment: the light has come into the world, and people loved the darkness".
